Receive Curved Bar

Two Scouts of Appomattox Troop 41 received Intermediate Scouting's highest award during their recent investiture and awards ceremony. Above are Linda Grinels, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arlun Grinels, and Jane McAden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James M. McAden. Both girls have been in scouting for six years and have shown outstanding ability in the Home-making Field in which they chose to receive their Curved Bar.

Scouts Receive Curved Bar

Girl Scout Troop 41 of Central Virginia Girl Scout Council held a Court of Awards on May 27, 1963 at the Memorial Methodist Church. The ceremony was opened by the girls giving their allegiance to the American Flag and singing America. Following this a candlelight investiture service was held for the girls of Brownie Troop 70 who are flying into this troop. There are twenty five girls flying up from the Brownie Troop. Mrs. Charles T. Moses, Jr. welcomed this troop into troop 41. Then Mrs. Moses presented the awards to her patrol. The following girls received Second Class: Linda Jo Moses, Donna Jean Hubbard, Sandra Pitsenberger, Vicki Rodgers, Karen Beale, Ginger Hamilton, Ann Herrecall, and Brenda Johnson. Mrs. Jack Hamilton then presented the girls in her patrol their Proficiency badges and awards. The following girls received their First Class: Linda Chenault, Janice Jamerson, Brenda Massie, Betty Trent, and Priscilla Wooldridge. Michelle Stanley and Betty Sneed received awards and have several more badges to pass off before receiving their First Class. The girls are required to pass 10 badges other than required work in each field of Girl Scout Work

Curved Bar Awards

The highlight of the program was the presentation of the Curved Bar to Linda Grinels, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Grinels and Jane McAden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James M. McAden. This is the highest award in Intermediate Girl Scouts. Mrs. Girlock and Mrs. McAden, mothers of the girls pinned the Curved Bar on the girls. Mrs. Moses gave a resume of the work these girls have done during their six years in Girl Scouting.

Mrs. McAden then presented the Senior Girls with their awards Nancy Cole, Sandra Harvey, and Ann Norris received their Five Star Pen and Marjorie Norris and Nancy McAden received their Library Aid Bar. The group then gave their Girl Scout Promise and sang "When E're You Make a Promise." The group formed their Friendship Circle and had taps. The girls were then served refreshments by two of the Senior Girls, Majorie Norris and Nancy McAden. Gifts were presented to Mrs. Hamilton, Ginger Hamilton, Majorie Norris, and Ann Norris as they are moving out of town. The leaders of this troop are Mrs. Charles T Moses, Mrs. Jack Hamilton, and Mrs. James McAden. This troop is sponsored by the Appomattox Woman's Club, Mrs. Ila Wooldridge, Neighborhood Chairman, Mrs. John Cole, Troop Organizer, and Mrs. David Trent, Troop Consultant were guests at the Court of Awards—as well as parents of the girls and Brownie Troop 70 and their leaders.
